

Safeguarding Children and Adults at Risk Policy

1. Introduction

The University of Reading makes a positive contribution to a strong and safe community and recognises the right of every individual to stay safe. It is committed to safeguarding children and Adults at Risk in so far as they are engaged in University-related activities and services.

Who the policy applies to

This policy applies the activities of all employees, students (including apprentices), officers, consultants, contractors, volunteers, interns, casual workers, agency workers and chaplains/faith representatives who are engaged in the work of the University. It will support and give guidance to staff in their practices and clarify the University's expectations.

What activities the policy applies to

The University encounters children and/or Adults at Risk through a range of activities such as outreach activities, residential stays, Open Days, staff and student research activity, daily student contact and through registrations with the Student Wellbeing Services. There are a very small number students who are under the age of 18 when they commence their studies. Some areas of the University have a very specific connection with children and/or Adults at Risk as a result of the nature of their discipline, teaching or research. This includes the Schools that teach programmes that involve students working with children and Adults at Risk.

The policy is intended to be an overarching framework which seeks to ensure that the University undertakes its statutory responsibilities in relation to the protection of children and Adults at Risk and the safeguarding of its members, and that it responds to concerns appropriately. There are, in addition, local policies such as the Guidance note on Preventing Harm in Research and Innovation Activities and those of individual Schools who, as a result of the nature of their discipline, teaching and/or research work with children and Adults at Risk, research or university clinics and the Counselling & Wellbeing Service. Such local policies will align with the principles and approach of this policy and/or the relevant professional body or other regulatory authority requirements (e.g. the NHS, the Department for Education, the British Association for Counselling and Psychotherapy). Local policies are listed in Appendix 2.

What activities the policy does not apply to

The University cannot accept responsibility for ensuring the safeguarding of children and young people under the age of 18 who are present on University premises without its knowledge or consent. Therefore, parents, guardians, schools or groups who bring their children onto the University campus must take responsibility for their safety and welfare. This policy does not apply to tenants occupying property owned by the University, on or off campus. Neither does it apply to situations where a third party hires a University venue.

Specific guidance, responsibilities and processes for safeguarding in the context of research an innovation activities are set out in the Guidance note on Preventing Harm in Research and Innovation Activities.

Where an Adult at Risk is a member of staff, chaplain or volunteer staff member the University's obligations as an employer and processes for discharging its duty of care to employees will apply.

3. Key principles

The University of Reading recognises that it has obligations to safeguard the wellbeing and safety of children and Adults at Risk involved in University activities.

The University policies and procedures observe the relevant statutory duties and guidance documents and are informed by good practice across the higher education sector. The University seeks to follow best practice by putting reasonable structures in place to support safeguarding and takes all concerns seriously, responding to concerns promptly and referring to the local authority and/or police as appropriate.

Anyone may witness or become aware of information suggesting that abuse or neglect is or is at risk of occurring and it must not be assumed that someone else will report the information. If a child or Adult at Risk discloses abuse or neglect directly to a member of staff this should always be taken seriously.

It is not everyone's responsibility to investigate concerns but it is everyone's responsibility to report concerns appropriately and for the appropriate authority to be notified through the Designated Safeguarding leads. Early sharing of information is key to providing an effective response to concerns.

4. Policy aims

The content of this policy reflects the relevant legislation, statutory duties and legal obligations of the University. It is one component of the University's overall approach to welfare and wellbeing. The University provides holistic student support that prioritises wellbeing and success through a range of academic and student support services. The University also provides appropriate wellbeing support to employees.

The aims of the policy are to:

- Protect the rights of every child and Adult at Risk within a safe environment.
- Promote staff awareness of the need to safeguard this identified group and to recognise that safeguarding is everyone's responsibility.
- Identify the specific responsibilities of staff in relation to safeguarding.
- Ensure that effective and proportionate safeguarding practices and procedures are in place.
- Ensure that staff act professionally, sensitively and in ways that promote the welfare of this identified group.
- Mitigate the risk of abuse by ensuring procedures and standards are in place, reviewed regularly and communicated to staff.
- Ensure University activities do not cause safeguarding concerns and to mitigate any concerns raised as a result.

5. Definitions

The University recognises the definitions set out by Working Together to Safeguard Children 2015 and the Care Act 2014.

Safeguarding

Safeguarding is the action taken to promote the welfare of children and vulnerable adults, and the protection from harm.

Abuse and Neglect

Abuse includes acts or risks of harm, oppression, discrimination, exploitation, and manipulation of power. This can be caused by those inflicting harm or those who fail to act to prevent harm. Abuse and neglect may not always be intentional but always requires a response. Children and Adults at Risk may be perpetrators as well as victims of abuse and neglect. There may be additional factors to consider if a person has protected characteristics.

Abuse and neglect are not restricted to any particular group in society and can take a number of forms, including the physical abuse, sexual abuse, emotional or psychological abuse, bullying, harassment (including cyber-bullying), discrimination, modern slavery, domestic abuse, risk to self and/or others, honor based abuse, drug or alcohol abuse, neglect, financial/material abuse and cultural abuse.

Child (or Children)

A child is a person under the age of 18.

Adult at Risk

The University defines an Adult at Risk as someone over 18 years of age who (i) has needs for care and support; and (ii) is experiencing or is at risk of abuse or neglect; and (iii) as a result of those needs is unable to protect themselves against the abuse or neglect or the risk of it.

This definition comes from the Care Act 2014, but for the avoidance of doubt, the University is not subject to the provisions of this act, beyond the safeguarding provisions set out in this policy.

Staff

The term 'staff' is used throughout this policy to refer to both employees of the University and those who work (paid or unpaid) on behalf of the university, including Chaplains/Faith Leaders and volunteers.

6. Responsibilities

All members of the University community have a responsibility to promote good practice by following the guidance laid out in this policy, to pass on any concerns of abuse or risks of abuse promptly using the required procedures and to contribute to discussions about safeguarding, being mindful of circumstances that may lead to themselves or others being made vulnerable and positively involving people in developing safe practices.

Additional specific responsibilities:

1. The University Executive Board is responsible for ensuring that:
 - there is commitment across the University to safeguarding;

4. Safeguarding Co-ordinators (SC's) will be identified within the University and will be appropriately trained in safeguarding issues.

- The SC's are:

- School Directors of Academic Tutoring (SDAT's)

- Wardens (for halls of residence)
- Student Financial Support and Helpdesk Manager (in all other instances)
- Apprenticeship Compliance Manager (for HBS apprenticeship provision only)
- Outreach and Access Manager (Global Recruitment (UK & Outreach)

Their responsibilities in relation to safeguarding are:

- To act as an initial source of support, advice and guidance to students and staff;
 - To refer cases of suspected abuse or allegations to the Designated Safeguarding Leads. This includes concerns that may arise in all spheres of University work including within a research context;
 - To follow up and liaise with DSLs to ensure satisfactory outcomes;
 - To liaise with the Designated Safeguarding Leads regarding any ongoing investigations where necessary; and
 - To ensure that staff within their School or service areas are aware of and adhere to the policy and procedures set out in this guidance.
 - To identify any additional safeguarding guidance or measures are necessary within the specific School context due to the nature of discipline, curriculum, research or other activities
5. Head of Admissions is responsible for decisions on admittance and any relevant special measures that the University may take when admitting under 18s into University accommodation.
6. Head of Global Recruitment (UK and Outreach) is responsible for providing advice on any risk assessment process for activities focused on students under 18 or Adults at Risk on campus.
7. Director of Human Resources is responsible for:
- The University's DBS (Disclosure Barring Service) processes
8. Director of Research Services is responsible for the provision of safeguarding training appropriate for the research context and the review and updating of the Guidance note on Preventing Harm in Research and Innovation Activities.
9. Head of School is responsible for ensuring the existence and effective operation of any local safeguarding policies needed for activity in their School where it is not adequately covered by this policy. In particular they are responsible for:
- ensuring an appropriate alignment with the University policy and/or the relevant professional body or other regulatory authority requirements.

10. Organisers of University activity (on or off campus) that purposefully engages with children or Adults at Risk are responsible for:

- Undertaking and seeking approval for an appropriate risk assessment
- Understanding this policy and the procedure for reporting safeguarding concerns
- Ensuring that all staff and/or student participants understanding this policy and know what they should do to report a concern at any time during the activity

Where the activity is hosted by another organisation within their own facilities, the host organisation's Safeguarding Policy will normally take precedence.

Safer Recruitment

The University of Reading ensures safer recruitment of staff (including those involved in volunteering/community-based activities) to prevent unsuitable people from working with children and Adults at Risk. This includes the commitment of resources to undertaking Disclosure Barring Service (DBS) checks or relevant equivalent investigations where staff have lived or worked overseas where necessary. Recruitment processes include identity checks, collecting acceptable references and good practice questions in interviews.

Where a staff role has been identified (permanent or temporary) as requiring a DBS check, Human Resources is responsible for communicating with the relevant staff member, and for ensuring that DBS checks are carried out and renewed at the correct interval. Where a DBS checks reveals information that requires consideration or action they will liaise with the relevant line manager of the staff member and the Head of School or Function to take any necessary actions.

For further information, see the University's DBS policy and/or the Home Office DBS website

Risk Assessments

Risk assessments should be undertaken by responsible managers for organised activities which involve bringing children and/or Adults at Risk on to campus,. The normal Health & Safety risk assessment and details of the event must be approved by the Events Notification Group and Head of Department through the Event Notification process prior to any event taking place. Where children or Adults at Risk are likely to be involved the risk assessment should be extended to cover safeguarding and approved by the relevant local Safeguarding Co-ordinator (with support from a DSL if needed).

Risk assessments should also be carried out by responsible managers where staff or students purposefully engage with children or Adults at Risk off campus (e.g. in local Schools) in the course of their employment or study. These should be approved the local safeguarding co-ordinator, Head of School or other specific designated role within the local context.

Risk Assessments should include: a careful examination of what could cause harm to people, and especially vulnerable groups, and an assessment on how risks can be mitigated or avoided where practicable to prevent harm. Careful consideration should be given to activity where staff members will have one-to-one access to people, and especially vulnerable groups, and where any University activity is delivered off-campus. The nature, length and intensity of contact with a child/Adult at Risk should be considered to help identify the context within which the risks should be managed.

Where risks are present within research practices it is the researcher's responsibility to follow the guidance laid out in the Guidance note on Preventing Harm in Research and Innovation Activities to ensure a risk evaluation is undertaken following local processes and ethical clearance is achieved from the relevant ethics and Health & Safety boards where appropriate. It is the researchers responsibility to ensure safety of participants and University members.

Activities where a Disclosure and Barring Scheme (DBS) check is required should be identified. This would apply to staff or students where their normal duties fall within the definition of Regulated Activity or are listed in the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) Order 1975 as amended) or the Police Act 1997 (Criminal Records) (Registration) Regulations 2006. Decisions in relation to who should be subject to a DBS check should be in line with the University's Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) Policy.

Student Placements

Where students undertake placements involving children and/or Adults at Risk appropriate training is provided either by the School and/or the placement provider. DBS checks are carried out where required and students are advised to raise any concerns through their placement provider's safeguarding mechanisms.

Students who are studying abroad are advised to follow their host institutions guidance for safeguarding concerns but if the concern is about a University of Reading student they should follow this policy.

7. Training

All staff regardless of role will be made aware of, and be familiar with, this policy through the Staff Induction process.

All staff who, through their role, are in contact with children and/or Adults at Risk will have access to safeguarding training and information at an appropriate level and be aware of child protection issues and the procedures in place to respond to suspected or confirmed cases of abuse. The Safeguarding essentials training module is accessible to any staff member via UoRLearn.

Staff with particular responsibilities, such as Designated Safeguarding Leads and Safeguarding Co-ordinators will be required to undertake appropriate training to fulfil the requirements of the role. Safeguarding Co-ordinators should undertake the Safeguarding Essentials training module (or equivalent) accessible via UoRLearn. Designated Safeguarding Leads should undertake level 3 safeguarding training which should be refreshed at three-year intervals.

All staff who undertake safeguarding training must ensure that there is a record that the training has taken place. Where training is undertaken via UoRLearn this is automatically recorded and stored. However, staff taking training taken outside the University should store and maintain their training records whilst they are employed by the University.

8. Managing information

The University will ensure that any information that relates to safeguarding is recognised as confidential, recorded and stored securely and in accordance with the University's policies on Data Protection and Confidentiality. However, it should be noted that the law permits disclosure of the confidential information necessary to safeguard the interests of children and Adults at Risk.

Staff (and others who are necessarily privy to such information) will, therefore, ensure that information relating to actual, suspected or alleged abuse of children and Adults at Risk is treated with the utmost care and that no one is given more information than is necessary to protect the child/Adult at Risk concerned. The Senior Designated Safeguarding Lead (Director of Student Wellbeing) will determine what information can be shared and to whom.

9. Allegation management process

The University has a procedure in place for dealing with allegations against staff, students who work or otherwise come into contact with children and/or Adults at Risk. This is set out below. The procedure has been designed to ensure the protection of a child or Adult at Risk from abuse whilst recognising the need to protect staff and students from unsupported or false allegations.

If anyone (staff, students or member of the public) has concerns over a child/ Adult at Risk or a child/ Adult at Risk confides in a member of staff in relation to another member of staffs or student's actions they should:

A. Where the person at risk is a student :

Immediately discuss their concerns with their local¹ Safeguarding Co-ordinator; who will then:

- o Report this immediately (via the Notification of Concern process) to one of the Designated Safeguarding Leads (DSL). The DSL will obtain any notes of the allegation from the member of staff or student. then the DSL will make a record of the incident on the University's Student Case Management system
- o Where the allegation is against a member of staff , the Head of School/Function and HR must be informed at the earliest opportunity.
- o The DSL will report this allegation if it is found to meet the Safeguarding criteria and provide information to the Director of Student Services as needed and update regularly.

¹ Where an individual has a concern but is unsure who their local safeguarding co-ordinator would be (e.g. volunteers, contractors etc.) they should contact the Student Financial Support and Helpdesk Manager based in the Carrington Building.

- o The DSL will, where appropriate, notify the Local Authority Designated Officer within one working day of the allegation being made.
- o The DSL will coordinate support for the student, through the Welfare team or appropriate function.

Notification to carers/guardians/parents of the person that the allegation involves will be undertaken in line with the University's Data Protection Policy.

B. Where the person at risk is neither a student nor a member of staff (e.g. the child/sibling/partner of a student, a child or Adult at Risk encountered during research they should follow the same process used for students. The DSL will tailor the response as necessary. Where the concern is raised in the context of working in/with another organisation, e.g. in a local school, the concern should be raised through their safeguarding mechanisms.

C: Where the person at risk is a member of staff the Head of School/Function and HR should be informed

D: Where the person at risk is a volunteer or working for the university in another capacity they should follow the same process used for staff. The Director of HR and Head of School/Function will tailor their response as necessary.

An appropriate investigation will be carried out in accordance with the University's Student Discipline and/or Fitness to Practice procedure for students² or the University's HR disciplinary procedure for staff. The investigation may lead to a referral of the case to the police or other services and other action as appropriate.

The individual staff member, against whom the claim has been made, will be able to access support from HR, the Employee Assistance Programme (EAP), Occupational Health as appropriate. Where the allegation is against a student they have access to support provided via the Student Welfare Team and the Reading Students' Union Advice Service.

Concerns that staff or students may be at risk of being drawn into terrorism should be raised under the Prevent Policy Statement (<http://student.reading.ac.uk/essentials/the-important-stuff/values-and-behaviours/prevent-policy.aspx>). Concerns should be raised by emailing prevent@reading.ac.uk. If there is an immediate safety concern this should be raised with the Security Services Manager (or, in their absence, the Director of Campus Services).

Guidance to staff and anyone receiving a disclosure of abuse

When dealing directly with a child/ Adult at Risk disclosing abuse you should:

² Where a student is on placement at UoR they will still be considered as a student and the Student Disciplinary processes will apply. If the allegation is against a student on placement with another organisation they will still be considered as a student and the Student Disciplinary processes will apply.

- stay calm and listen to the individual's concerns;
- treat the person with respect and provide reassurance that it is safe to have the discussion;
- allow the individual to speak without disruption;
- keep a record of the concern using the person's own words as far as possible;
- do not promise confidentiality;
- explain to the individual that the information may need to be passed on to a Designated Safeguarding Lead; and
- pass on the information promptly and directly to a Designated Safeguarding Lead

Things not to do:

- dismiss the concern or think it is someone else's responsibility;
- ask leading questions when the person is disclosing to you;
- express shock or anger or laugh;
- tell the person that you will keep the information confidential;
- delay reporting the suspected or confirmed abuse to the Designated Safeguarding Lead; or
- carry out an investigation into the allegation.

10. Staff conduct and good practice

Any University staff, others acting on behalf of the University or students working with children and/or Adults at Risk whether acting in a paid or unpaid capacity will be expected to:

1. Act responsibly and always maintain a professional manner, ensuring that behaviour, language, gestures, and dress code are appropriate.
2. Maintain professional boundaries at all times. Intimate or sexual relationships between staff and students under the age of 18 or who are considered vulnerable/at risk is an abuse of trust which may constitute a criminal offence. Staff and student relationships are discouraged under the University's Staff and Student Relationships policy. Staff should speak to their Head of School or Function or their HR Partner for further advice.
3. Avoid physical contact. Staff, others acting on behalf of the University and students should be aware of personal space and should avoid using gestures such as regularly putting a hand on the shoulder or arm. Whilst these gestures may be well intentioned, such acts could be misinterpreted. In situations where it is necessary for staff to restrain a child or Adult at Risk in order to prevent self-injury or injury to others, security should be called to deal with the situation.
4. Use official university channels (e.g. email) for communicating with a child or Adult at Risk (e.g. email). Using social media can be an appropriate communication method, however, issues raised via or observed on social media must be dealt with under this policy.
5. Staff must not share personal contact details with children and Adults at Risk³
6. Not take photographs of children/Adults at Risk unless asked to do so by a member of staff for project purposes where written approval has been provided for photography.

³ University Chaplains are permitted to use their personal contacts with students

7. Respect a child's or Adult at Risk's right to personal privacy, while recognising that an agreement not to pass on information or to keep secrets must never be made with children or Adults at Risk.
8. Follow Health and Safety procedures and not put themselves or others in any unnecessary danger.
9. Only trained first aiders should administer First Aid. Staff should follow University First Aid procedures as highlighted on First Aid notices.

HBS Apprenticeship Safeguarding Roles

The University recognises the specific requirements for Apprenticeship safeguarding roles that sit within Henley Business School (HBS).

HBS has an Apprenticeship Safeguarding Coordinator with additional responsibilities.

These additional roles are:

- To maintain proper records of referrals, complaints or concerns in relation to apprentices only;
- To ensure recording is properly stored and archived;
- To give feedback to the member of staff/liaise as appropriate taking information sharing and confidentiality issues into account;
- To provide information and advice within HBS on safeguarding issues;
- To be able to provide (in conjunction with the DSL) advice and support to apprenticeship staff on issues relating to children and Adults at Risk protection; and
- To support the individual and ensure they are central to the process and kept informed throughout.

At the point that a safeguarding issue should be escalated, the Apprenticeship Safeguarding Coordinator will escalate the matter to a DSL through the Notification of Concern Form in Appendix A.

The DSL assigned to the issue will keep the HBS Safeguarding Coordinator updated to maintain the school's records.
